

Imagine a world where everything is made of candy. Your favorite TV characters are walking around and you can play with them. All of your friends live in the houses on your street and you get to play together all day! Does this sound like a world you would want to live in? I would!

If I had one day in my dream world I would paraglide and go swimming with my cousin. I would also go to the City Museum and Bluey World with all my friends and my cousin. We would go on all the big slides and play hide and seek at the City Museum. Then we would go to Bluey World and buy Bluey stuffed animals and souvenirs.

In my dream world I would know everything so I won't have to go to school. I would have some of every animal and they would be trained so we could all play with them. Nobody would get hurt or sick. My house would be an old church and school attached by a bridge. It would be the funnest house ever!

The day would have to be extra long so we could do everything we wanted to do. We also wouldn't get tired so we wouldn't have to sleep. We would also go skiing a lot. It would be the best day ever!
