A Day in my Dream World!

By Isabell Miles

I always wonder what I dream about when I sleep. My friends say don't think about it too much. They ask what's your favorite princess? I say Belle, but I don't know why they ask me that question. They also told me; you probably dream about meeting Belle.

That night I feel sleep and then the real magic happened. I woke up in my dream world! I looked around, and I saw Simone Biles! I always wanted to meet her. I asked for her autograph. She said, "I'd love to." Once she gave back my notebook, I looked at it and something happened. I guess the pen was magical. The notebook flew in the air and made fireworks.

I saw all my favorite characters everywhere. My mouth dropped, but my legs ran toward them like crazy. I asked for all of their autographs and again the notebook flew and made even more fireworks. I did wonder if this was a dream or if it was real but I wasn't sure so I asked Sonic the Hedgehog where I was. He said "you're in the land of dreams a place where you can do whatever you want." I said "thanks" as I walked away. He also gave me a map.

I went to the mermaid lagoon, where I met my sister who took down the evil sirens. I walk up to her and I say "hi." She gave me a big hug and kiss and said I missed you. I hugged her back. Everyone cheered and then, I had to wake up. However, before I woke up, I promised everyone I would come back and have more fun with them as princess Jasmine's tiger waved his paw. Bye! Bye!
