

The Best Day of My Life - By Madelyn Codd

When I woke up, I was so excited. Today is the day I'm going to Sturniolos Tour in Boston. We got to stay overnight in a hotel and I couldn't stop screaming with excitement, unfortunately mom yelled at me to stop.

I decided I would wear gray sweatpants, my Fresh Love hoodie and a pair of Nikes to the tour. For my hair, I would straighten it and keep it down. After I was ready, we left for the tour.

When I got there, I was excited. There were so many people it took us like 10 minutes to park. When we got there, we saw Bridget and Aunt Tanya. Bridget and I were matching, I had my orange hoodie and she had her blue hoodie on. We were Matt and Chris.

We got past security and got to our seats. The show was starting soon and after that we would meet them.

When they came out, I almost started screaming out of excitement. They brought out the wheel and welcomed us. They did this thing where they would call fans onto stage and spend the wheel. The wheel was filled with dares. Whatever it landed on, the fan got to pick a triplet to do the dare. After doing that a couple times they moved on to the next thing.

The next thing that they did was guess the lyrics. They had a big screen and whoever was first or next would face the opposite way of the audience. Then, just by the beat of the song they had to guess it. It was hilarious.

After that they threw some merch into the crowd and I caught some. I got a drawstring bag with a space camp shirt and lip balm!!

Then there was an intermission just so you could go to the bathroom and buy snacks. During the intermission Bridget and Tanya and I all went to the bathroom.

When the intermission was over they came back on stage, this time there were three food carts with an oven on the stage. I was about 90% sure they were going to cook food.

They revealed what they were doing and I was right. Except they would compete against each other and fans would vote. Whoever won would get a point added to their point card. From the other activities, Chris was currently winning.

Oh, and there was another twist. Whatever they made had to be done in less than 45 minutes and another wheel would pick what they would make.

When they were choosing, Chris got pizza, Nick got hot dogs, and Matt got mac-n-cheese. It was hilarious, watching Chris try to make pizza. When they finished I got to experience something no fan would think they ever would experience. I got to go on stage and vote. I got seated at the judges seats.

First, I had to rate Nick's Hot Dog. News flash, it tasted disgusting. -2/10, may have thrown up! Then I had to rate Chris's pizza. Just as I expected it tasted horrid. -100/10, I literally cried. Lastly, I had to rate Matt's mac-n-cheese. 10/10, it tasted amazing. Matt needs to drop the recipe!

Even though Nick and Chris disappointed me. I had so much fun on stage. Overall, Matt won the food contest, but Chris was still in the lead.

For the last game, they played “try not to laugh.” The rules were simple: you had three strikes and every time you laughed you got a strike.

They would search up funny videos. The last person standing won the game.

I wasn't that surprised when Chris got out first. I think it was the fourth video and Chris started laughing.

After 2 minutes, Nick got out as well which meant Matt was the winner. That also meant there was a tie between Matt and Chris!

For the tiebreaker, they decided to play a 1vs1 in basketball. Nick will ref but they needed two refs.

They decided to bring another fan onto stage and guess who they picked, Bridget! She was so excited!

Overall, Chris won. Or should I say Chris smoked Matt. 35-10.

Because Chris won the most games. “King of the Tour.”

After the show, we waited in line for the meet and greet. When it was our turn, we got pictures of all of us. I even got to make a TikTok with the triplets!

I had so much fun, but all good things come to an end. I was so lucky to meet them and was overjoyed to go on stage with them. This by far was the best day of my life and I'll never forget it.
