

Time Through Space Tanks

I was inside a huge black-and-white space tank with shiny silver glints. It had rocket boosters and could change into flying or landing mode, depending on the planet and battle we were in. It had a laser and a cannon shooter on top, and a tiny helicopter rocket controlled by a rover. I was wearing a black suit with yellow stars on it. I had a penguin, two rovers, and five crew members with me.

I saw 20 more space tanks. Each crew had one human, and they wore a helmet with a star. Mine had three stars and three spikes, which meant I was the leader of all the crews. "Welcome, crew! Any missions?"

"Of course!" one of the crew members said.

"Then let's go!" I said. We flew through space and saw a pink planet with grey buildings, green oceans, and yellow trees. "Alright, crew! It's landing time!" I commanded. We activated landing mode, and the tank transformed for landing.

Suddenly, strange creatures with lion heads and bodies, shark fins, eagle claws, fishy tails, bear legs, and basilisk feet appeared. They told us that monster pirates had been going around the galaxy, stealing some of their friends. They asked for our help because they were not protected.

"Fire the helicopter rockets and start attacking!" I shouted. The creatures helped us fight. I fired the helicopter rocket, and the spinning blades destroyed 13 monsters. We fought back with lasers and missiles, and soon the monsters were gone.

The aliens thanked us and gave us orange fruit crystal guns. We continued through space, defeating more pirate crews. Finally, we fought 90 pirate crews and their captain. After a long battle, we won. The Autobots gave us glowing crystals for our help.

We said goodbye to our new friends and kept exploring.
