

A Mermaid Tale

Once upon a time there were two sisters that went to school and they shouted to their friends “Guys, let’s go to potion class.” At potion class the teacher said “We will be making our own potions today.” The sisters made a potion with bubbles, water, seaweed, and beach sand. Then they went to the beach and tested their potion. When they drank the potion something magical happened and they turned into mermaids! They were shocked.

In the ocean they found a cave that had a lot of sharks in it. They were very scared. The sharks went past the mermaids to go have a Halloween party with their friends. The sister’s Halloween did not go the way they planned.

Some other mermaids found them and asked if the sisters wanted to go to a Halloween party with them. While they were at the party the other mermaids went and talked with the sharks. The sisters saw that the sharks weren’t that scary and then they talked and danced all night. When the party was over the sisters swam back to land and asked a crab for the potion. Then they turned back into humans. They went home and told their parents about their Halloween adventure under the sea.

By; Lillian Claveloux

Age: 8

Grade: 2nd

School: Wellspring Academy (homeschool)

Word Count: 217