

Ervkin and the Candy
By Jack Murphy, Age 7

Once upon a time there was a monster named Ervkin. Ervkin had a home in the woods. Ervkin loved candy, but he had an enemy that didn't want him to like candy, the people of the town. Whenever they saw him they attacked, but Ervkin tried to give them something nice. They never liked it but they still didn't trust him. Ervkin was sad.

One day Ervkin heard kids screaming. He peeked through the fence to get a good view. He saw candy flying through the air. A piñata was breaking open! So, Ervkin leaped over the fence to get a piece of candy. He found a piece in the plants. Ervkin was so happy until the moms yelled at him, "No monsters allowed."

Ervkin was so happy that he got one candy, but he went back over the fence sadly. He ate the candy and wanted more.

So, Ervkin went to the store to buy candy. A sign on the door said no monsters allowed in the store so Ervkin went away sadly. Ervkin was a little bit angry at this point because he didn't have a piece of candy or two.

The next day was Halloween. He heard a kid say that he was going to be a monster for Halloween and get three big bags full of candy. So, Ervkin TRICK OR TREATED on Halloween. Everyone thought he was a kid dressed up as a big monster. He got a JILLION PIECES OF CANDY! He outsmarted the people of the town. He just ate one a day and saved it all year because he got so many! So Ervkin went trick or treating on Halloween every year!

THE END Story by JACK.

I love storys