

THE LITTLE MONSTERS LOST IN THE SPOOKY CORN MAZE

Once upon a time there were three monsters named Marshmallow, Muffin and Yara. They planned to go to the pumpkin patch together. Marshmallow was so excited, she could barely sleep! The next morning, Marshmallow got up and ran to the door. She gobbled up breakfast, then she put on her socks and shoes, and ran to the front door. Marshmallow's mom drove Marshmallow to the pumpkin patch. Marshmallow met her friends, Yara and Muffin. They decided to go to the pumpkins first. Marshmallow had a hard time picking a pumpkin. "Too thick, too thin, too bumpy, just perfect!" said marshmallow then they headed to the corn maze. While they were walking through the corn maze, they saw a scarecrow! They kept walking, but then they ended up in a dead end! They went the other way, but they also ended up at a dead end. "WE'RE LOST!!" They exclaimed. Marshmallow found a piece of paper on the ground that had something written on it. Marshmallow read it. "it says.... go to the scarecrow you saw earlier." Marshmallow said. This might be a clue to help us get out of here! " Said Muffin. They walked to the scarecrow. They found another clue. Muffin read it "Find a bumpy pumpkin," said Muffin. "Pumpkin?" said Yara, "I think I saw a pumpkin on the way here!" They followed Yara to the pumpkin. They found another clue! Yara read it. "Go to the heart shaped corn said Yara". After looking for hours, they FINALLY found a note that said, "KEEP GOING AND YOU'LL FIND THE WAY OUT!!!" They ran to the exit! Marshmallow, Yara and Muffin partied late into the night, and they all lived happily ever after.
