

A Groovy Ghost!

By Noah Chang

Word Count: 490

Jay and Owen were trick-or-treating and entered a spooky looking mansion that had ghosts and witches on the grass and fake spiders on the roof. Jay was already freaked out just as Owen was. Owen said, "This is creepy!" "Yep," Jay added. Jay and Owen were best friends and liked each other since kindergarten. Right now, they were in Ms. Clementine's second grade class at Pinewood Inter Elementary. They both shouted, "Trick-or-treat!" in front of the mansion door. Just then, Gary the Ghost surprised them from behind and shouted, "Boo!" After that, a magical portal opened in front of them, and they entered the Mystical Halloween World. "Ahh!" Jay screamed. He shouted, "It's a ghost! Run!" "Wait!" Gary yelled after them, "I'm a friendly ghost!" "Really?" questioned Owen. "Yep," Gary said. "The people in the Magical World who own this place have tons of super powers and all these different cool tools." "It's amazing being in a unique world! It's really nice here," Jay replied. "Let me show you around," Gary said.

“What’s that?” Owen questioned while picking up a tool. “That’s a magical cauldron that witches use like Wendy the Witch and even Mike the Wizard. They crush gun powder in it to make a TNT potion. This potion blows up living creatures that are evil to our land,” Gary said. The three walked down a street, and a flying broom that was waiting for them took them to another city called Crackleboom. Their flight took them through rough winds, cold air, and witches practicing their magic on a mountain. “Wow! This is amazing,” Owen said. “Thanks,” Gary replied. Jay shouted, “Hello Spooksters!” to the people down below. Some ghosts waved to them as they entered Crackleboom. Then, they skipped towards a long black steel gate and went inside a huge white concrete house. The house had a garden full of magical mushrooms that make people healthier when they are eaten. In addition, sunflowers that were skinny and yellow sang Halloween songs as Gary, Jay, and Owen were walking to the door. “This is where I live,” Gary said. “There’s a couch and TV there, and I’ll make soup for dinner.” Owen and Jay watched a movie about superheroes when Gary called for dinner. Gary served Hazler soup. Although the soup was spicy, the three devoured it. “Yum,” Jay said. “This is amazing!” Owen added. “Thank you,” Gary replied.

After dinner, Jay and Owen followed Gary back to the capital of Mystical Halloween World - Spookyland - to go back to the portal. Jay and Owen were happy to visit Gary's world, and Gary was excited to have visitors. Jay, Owen, and Gary kept a promise to be in touch later and said bye to each other. Then, the three separated. "That was fun," Jay said. "Amazing!" Owen shouted. Jay and Owen visited more houses and had fun on their groovy Halloween night. The End!