

Monsters Beyond the Purple Door

By: Lia Thinara Silva

Word count - 500

Long, long, long, long, ago lived a girl named Autumn, she was a curious and intelligent child, however the question was would her curiosity lead to her downfall?

One day on a misty and cozy night, was a girl named Autumn, she was sitting in her bedroom, staring through her window hoping to leave this town, in Japan soon. Her room was decorated with crafts, photos, and origami, hanging on her walls and ceiling, and placed on shelves. Her bed had a checkered blanket, orange, white, and red. She sighed, just then she heard a knock on the and said, "Come in." The door creaked open and in walked in her older brother, Adam. "Want to go for a walk with the dogs?" He asked. "Sure." Autumn responded. Her brother was the only one who ever listened to she had to say, her father just worked and worked, he never listened to her. She walked down the stairs and grabbed the leash from the hook by the door, and tied it around Umber and Cosmo, their dogs. She slipped on her gray, long cardigan, on top of her orange blouse and jeans. Then she put on her black, sleek boots and waited for her brother to come.

Her brother showed up a few minutes later with a black coat on top of his blue sweater, and white sneakers. Then they finally left. As they were walking the wind suddenly became chilly. Autumn's dark brown hair, her tips highlighted in light brown, blew in the strong wind. Her pale face, and blush cheeks chilled in the air. Just as they were talking about leaving this town, Autumn felt a strange eerie feeling, as if someone was watching them. "You ok?" Adam asked her, his face showing concern. "Yeah, I'm fine." However, she still couldn't shake the feeling...

They were on their way back home, when suddenly, Cosmo started barking like crazy, he frantically jumped up and down. That's when Autumn realized something was really wrong, then suddenly she heard rustling in the bushes. Her brother, Adam met her gaze, and the both thought the same thing, something is not right. He slowly tiptoed towards the bushes, then reached out and yelped. He jumped back, and said "There is something, there!" I approached, then moved the bushes aside and saw a... baby panda?

The panda looked at her with innocent eyes, then suddenly transformed into a glowing purple door. Adam and Autumn looked at each other in shock. Then they both stepped in, and they had no idea what they were getting themselves into...

Autumn woke up and found her self in a dark room, she looked around but saw no one. She slowly stood up. Then suddenly heard a voice, "You are the chosen one." She looked around but saw no one. Then suddenly a light hit her eyes and she saw her brother, Adam standing with... monsters? "It's your job to save the world." They said, then she fainted.