

The Night the Decorations Came Alive

One frosty Halloween night, three monsters named Third Eye, Strawberry Ear, and Taped Mouth went to a haunted house. They collected lots of scrumptious candy. Then, Strawberry Ear heard a sound. They all listened closely. It was a growling sound. The decorations of the haunted house had come to life!

The ferocious black widow spiders that were stuck to the wall were now crawling across the floor. Then, hundreds of spider webs that were dangling from the ceiling, were now limping across the yard. The three monsters were thunderstruck! They all ran for their lives until Third Eye spotted a sparkling red button. It read, "Press this button to stop the halloween decorations from coming to life". But, it was guarded by a ferocious werewolf. Then, the three monsters remembered that they had super powers. Third Eye could move things with his eyes, Strawberry Ears could launch strawberries out of his ears, and Taped Mouth could launch tapes at anyone's mouth.

So, Third Eye directed the spiders and the spider webs away by controlling them with it's eyes, while Taped Mouth threw tape at the werewolf's mouth. Next, Strawberry Ear threw a shiny red strawberry at the button. They did it ! They stopped the decorations coming to life. The three of them sprinted out of spooky haunted house and collected plenty of lipsmacking shiny blue candy.
