

My Cozy Day at Home

By: Logan

I woke up to the smell of sausage and bacon. I really wanted to go back to sleep, but the smell was too good. I rolled over expecting to see bare trees with lots of dead leaves on the ground when I looked out my window, but no! I saw bare trees with snow on them! I got out of my bed and went to the window. There had to be at least 5 or 6 inches of snow on the ground! I went downstairs and started reading a book. As I sat down, Tigerlily (my cat) jumped into my lap and started purring. I was drifting off to sleep when I heard crack. I opened my eyes and felt a burst of warm air push against me. The fire crackled as I got out of the chair and went into the kitchen and got some hot cocoa. Mmmmmmm! My mom's homemade hot cocoa is the best! I can't explain how good it is. My sister, mom, and dad, and I started playing a card game. Later that evening, we all watched Miracle on 34th Street. I was such a good movie. During the movie I thought about how good my day was. It has been warm, cozy, and very fun. It had been a very quiet and peaceful day.
