

Freedom

Freedom means the world to me. Freedom means we don't have to be controlled or ordered. It means to be free. It means we have rights to run for president. Or to vote. We don't have to be separated because of freedom. We don't have to be unallowed, mistreated or misjudged because of freedom. It means we can be treated with justice, not injustice, and the world nicely treated with fairness. Freedom can change places, like a theatre for white people only, but with freedom, the theatre would be for everyone. So every country, from USA to Russia, every place should have freedom. So on independence day, we should celebrate the day US got free. As for us, we watch fireworks every year. This year, we had family come over. We went to fun place. And thats what I think freedom means.
