

Cleverus where are you?

by : Srihari G. Karthik

I am Saucerus. I live with my big sister, Mommy, and Daddy on Tomato Juice Planet.

My planet is in the Makara Solar System, in the Andromeda Galaxy.

One day, the Andromeda Galaxy and the Milky Way Galaxy crashed into each other. Cleverus went far away and ended up in the Milky Way Galaxy.

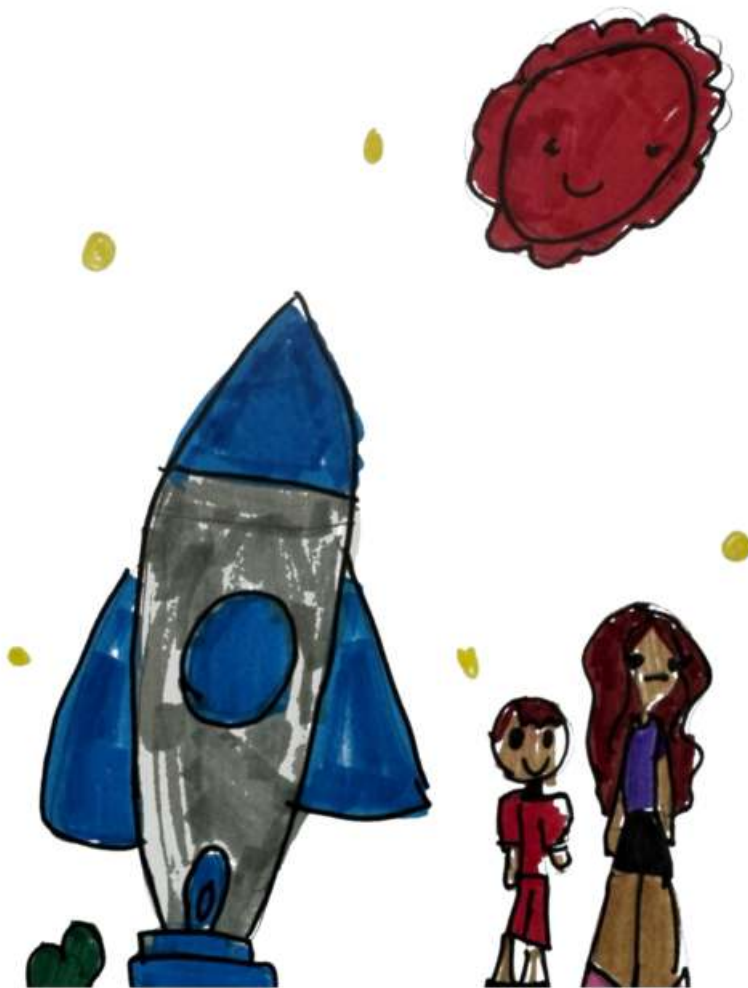

I did not know where Cleverus was. I missed him. I have a best friend named Cleverus. We are best friends forever.

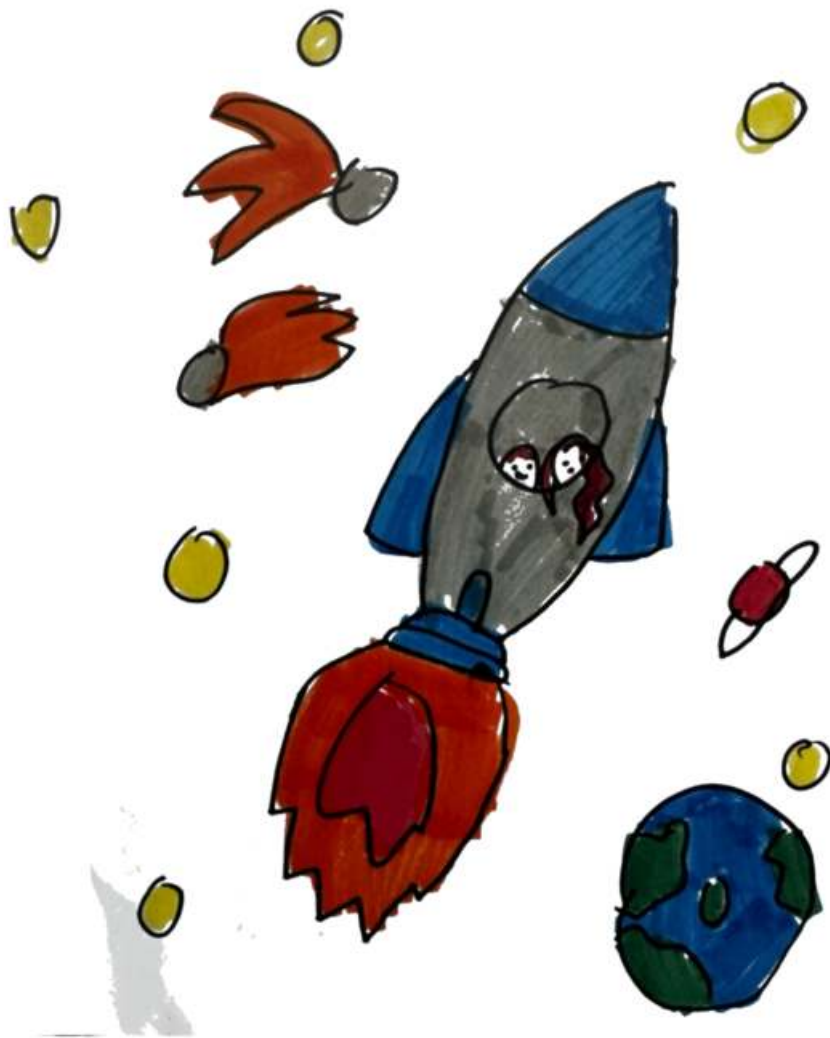

Then one day... BEEP! BEEP! My watch started beeping! Cleverus's watch was sending a signal. Our watches could find each other because we were best friends. My watch showed that Cleverus was on a planet called Earth.

I wanted to see him. So I built my own rocket. I used the Red Giant Sun in the Makara Solar System to power it. My big sister and I packed our bags. "Bye, Mommy! Bye, Daddy!"

We got into the rocket. I put Earth into the GPS. 3... 2... 1...
BLAST OFF! We flew past stars and planets until we saw a beautiful blue planet. Earth!

We landed. I saw Cleverus and ran to him. We gave each other a big hug.

Then we sat down for lunch. I shared my tomato jelly sandwich. Cleverus loved it! I gave Cleverus tomato seeds from my planet to grow on Earth.

We giggled, we played, and I now know why he stayed. Earth is beautiful. I wish I make it my dream vacation every year.
BLAST OFF!

Wait a minute... Am I an alien in the Milky Way Galaxy? Is Cleverus an alien on Earth? Are we all aliens when we go somewhere that's not our home? Will Earth be preserved and stay beautiful? Hmm... I don't know!

