

One Climate One Blossom

Oh gosh! Today i see trees got their brand new coats. Spring is coming!

After a whole cold nap, the earth begins to smile. The tiny flowers started blooming. A wind that never wants to sit still. The magician spring helps everyone to work together to get rosy bubble gum. When rain falls and the sun shines, a tiny bloom grows which spreads its smile and dances on the trees. Meanwhile everyone cheerfully dances to see the cherry blossom. The sky is little more excited and begins to play drum in a heavy beat. The rain droplets racing each other down against the leaves. The tiny little petals having a refreshing bath and help every petals sparkle like pink jewel. Now the cherry tree stands tall and strong, looking down at the soft pink carpet.

One climate and one bloom have turned the garden into a colorful treasure!
